CLAIM AGAINST GREAT BRITAIN
FOR COMPENSATION.

STRONG BRITISH REPLY.

London, Jan. 18.
A White Paper giving Correspondence, which has taken place between Holland and Great Britain, shows that the Dutch Minister, on October 28, claimed compensation for the loss of the ships Elze and Bernis through enemy submarine because they were "compelled" to proceed to a British port when on a voyage from French West Africa.

Mr. Balfour replied, denying liability for the loss of neutral ships by German illegality, and added that the action of a neutral nation which apparently does not protest at such submarine and confines its efforts to presenting claims to Great Britain is inconsistent with neutrality. He said it is difficult to characterize such action by a professedly friendly Power with due regard to diplomatic amenities.

The Dutch Minister, replying on December 17, contested the British claim to bring a neutral vessel into port under any circumstances, and was therefore unable to waive the claim for compensation.

Mr. Balfour, replying on December 31, repeated his inability to enter into the claim.

THE HOSPITAL SHIP QUESTION.

THE BASIS OF GERMAN
ALLEGATIONS.

London, Jan. 17.

The Admiralty announces that a German wireless message states the English themselves, according to the Daily Chronicle of December 11, admit that Hospital ships were used to transport troops.

The so-called admission was a deliberately false statement made by Miss Ethel Marsh for which she was sentenced to a month's imprisonment at Portsmouth.

The public should know the grounds on which the German war on the wounded is admittedly based.

BRITISH REPRESENTATIONS TO SPAIN.

Reuter learns that the British Government has made representations to Spain in connection with the sinking of the Reusa.

A GERMAN OFFICER CON-FRONTED WITH HIS LIE.

A German officer, who is a prisoner in England, has been confronted with a statement in his book that he had seen guns and troops on British hospital ships and has frankly admitted that his statement is entirely unfounded.

SHIPPING CASUALTIES.

TWO STEAMERS LOST.

London, Jan. 17.

Lloyd's Register reports that the Ungent has been missing since the beginning of November.

A number of bodies, supposed to be of members of the crew, have been washed up.

The Captain of the Takosani states that his vessel sank off Cape Medao after collision on January 14.

MAN-POWER BILL PASSED.

COMPULSION FOR IRELAND
REJECTED.

London, Jan. 17.

In the House of Commons, an amendment moved during the second reading of the Military Service Bill to enforce compulsion in Ireland, was rejected by 136 votes to 48. Sir Auckland Geddes, Minister of National Service, said that the application of compulsion in Ireland would not help on the war and even if such a measure was adopted, it would be months before the effects could be felt. He had approached the question with an unbiased mind and without political bias, and he had come to the conclusion that it would be folly, from the point of view of the war, to suggest conscription in Ireland.

Mr. Asquith following, questioned whether the size of the Home Defence forces was not excessive. He advocated, firstly, sending to the Front considerable numbers from the Home Defence forces; secondly, a further coming out of 45 fighters who were behind the lines, in order to replenish the depleted units which had suffered considerably below effective strength; and thirdly, increasing the existing numbers of those employed in shipbuilding, which was primary of all our necessities.

Mr. Lloyd George interposing, said: "I give that assurance. We regard shipbuilding as a primary necessity."

Mr. Asquith continuing, pleaded the cause of retaining a sufficiency of young skilled workers upon munitions. Throughout the land, he said, there was no more hanging back from the Army than there had ever been in any previous stage of the war. The temper of the people required no stimulus; it was constant, resolute and unwavering.

Mr. Hogge, Liberal Member for Edinburgh, said the 450,000 men mentioned by Sir Auckland Geddes was a flea-bite compared with the numbers actually required. He desired to ask a number of questions, whereupon the House went into secret session.

It is officially announced that at a secret session after a discussion, the Prime Minister spoke on the second reading of the Man-Power Bill which was then carried without a division, and the Bill was committed to a committee of the whole House.

ENDORSEMENT OF MAN-POWER PROPOSALS.

London, Jan. 18.

The papers emphasize the unanimity in favour of the man-power proposals, pointing out that there was not a single amendment hostile to the measure. They declare, however, that the people are doubtful as to whether the best use is being made of the resources.

The Daily Mail says the difficulties confronting Sir Auckland Geddes will be lessened if the country is assured that the huge war machine is run with a minimum of waste and improvidence.

The Daily News supposition is that the proposals arise almost entirely from the "fog of mistrust" which the Government is enveloped by at the present time.

BURMA'S FRONTIER.

EFFECTS OF CHINESE UNREST.

THE SUPPRESSION OF OPIUM.

The report on the administration of the Southern Shan States for 1916-1917 to June 30th, states: On the Chinese border rumours of disorder have been current from time to time, but, as a matter of fact, conditions have been practically normal in the country immediately adjoining British territory. There was an increase in violent crime, though having regard to the large number of landless and destitute men in Yunnan and in the border country its volume is surprisingly small. A band of thirty-eight Chinamen attacked a party of fourteen and again a party of five traders, and carried away property of considerable value. They were pursued by Shan who killed three, captured two, and wounded others. The marauders fled to Mong Lam, and later re-appeared on the frontier with reinforcements and threats of vengeance. They were particularly indignant that they had not been allowed to rob their own countrymen, with impunity. A demonstration by some 300 villagers caused the band to move off. Another gang killed a Shan and wounded others who were thought to be carrying opium. They escaped. The house of the headman of Mong Lam near the frontier was attacked by eleven men. His wife and two men were killed, and property worth Rs. 2,000 taken. Two of the dead were shot dead. An attack on the house of a headman in Mong Lam ended disastrously for the Chinese who were driven off with the loss of four men killed. These were the most serious border crimes. The anti-opium campaign was vigorously prosecuted by the Hapshu Government. Kaw Shu Shin, the official in charge of the Hapshu Hwang Panna, began operations east of the Mekong. He got into difficulties, but emerged safely and continued to destroy the crop throughout Keng Hung. The crop was shown in Mong Lam; but notwithstanding official activities opium is still grown to some extent, and is readily obtainable both in the Hapshu Hwang Panna and in Mong Lam.

YUNNAN INSECURITY. In the cold weather an expedition was despatched against the Wall of Hsiang-shan. It met with a reverse, losing an officer, several men, and one or two guns. Reinforcements were sent for but none has yet arrived. In spite of official disapproval, the demand for opium in Yunnan appears to be at large. Some traders, who came to Kengtung from Yunnan and Yunnan, they had strong financial backing and were said to be members of a society which guaranteed them.

SOMETHING TO REMEMBER.

IN buying a cough medicine for children, bear in mind that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best for colds, croup, and whooping cough, and that it contains no harmful drug. For sale by all Chemists and Druggists.

against all risks. A feature of the year was the unusual strength both in numbers and armament of caravans, necessitated no doubt by the insecurity of the roads in Yunnan. Two parties, together numbering 245 men, with 178 rifles, arrived suddenly at Mong Yawng in March. Their appearance caused some perturbation and they refused to surrender their arms to the local officials. It was made to the local officials, applied to Mr. Grose and Captain Enriquez for assistance. It was resolved to disarm them before they reached Kengtung town. With this object in view Military Police were hurried down from along the road to Mong Yawng. The Chinamen were met and they handed over their weapons quietly. As a matter of fact the last thing they desired was trouble with the British authorities. They had 17,000 dollars, which they intended to exchange for rupees, and then to buy "goods" for the return journey. They left quite peacefully in due course, and their arms were returned to them. Acting on the experience of the past China will continue to be much the same, the Sawbwa proposes to post officials with armed police at Mong Yawng and Mong Lam during the cold weather. Both these places suffered from panic, whereas it was observed that Mong Ma and Mong La, on the main road, were free from alarm. This is ascribed to the influence of the Chinese post law.

MORE UNREST.

There was a certain amount of unrest on the Chinese border, and another series of raids on a large scale were not altogether absent, but the year seems to have passed peacefully enough. Conditions in the Mekong Province (the portion of French Indo-China directly adjoining British territory) were fairly satisfactory. Complaints of officials on either side retaining property of persons who wished to move to the other, were dealt with, and rules have been drawn up to protect emigrants from exactions. In January Mr. Jamieson and Mr. Shaw met Mr. Crosby, British Consul at Chiengmai, at Hawmlok, and in February Mr. Grose met M. Lapyronie and the Governor of Chiengmai at the same place. Both meetings were most useful.

THE SIAN BORDER. The Sian border was entirely peaceful. A watch was kept for suspicious persons, and was generally effective; though a case of disobedience of orders (which was duly dealt with) came to light. A frontier case was few and of a petty nature. Complaints of officials on either side retaining property of persons who wished to move to the other, were dealt with, and rules have been drawn up to protect emigrants from exactions. In January Mr. Jamieson and Mr. Shaw met Mr. Crosby, British Consul at Chiengmai, at Hawmlok, and in February Mr. Grose met M. Lapyronie and the Governor of Chiengmai at the same place. Both meetings were most useful.

THE NORTHERN SHAN STATES.

Regarding the Northern Shan States the administration report says: There was considerable unrest during the open season in the Chinese Shan States owing to the real efforts made by the Chinese officials to carry out the order for the suppression of opium. There was fighting between the Chinese troops, assisted by the Sawbwa, and all sorts of rumours and conflicting stories were brought across the border. Later in the season there was fighting further north in Senta. The Chinese authorities appear to have been nervous lest Kachins from North Hsenwi should join in the fray. There does not appear to have been the slightest disturbance among the Kachins of this side of the border to take a hand, nor could any evidence be obtained of persons from North Hsenwi having been cut off by the fighting while on a visit to the villages concerned. Along the North Hsenwi border, however, there were destroyed where convenient. The Chief Sawbwa made two trips for this purpose, and destroyed opium near the road, but made no attempt to destroy the opium where it was less easily accessible. He was followed by a Chinese deputy who destroyed some fields left by the Sawbwa, but even he, in the case of the notorious villages of Pangtup and Luting, waited until the crops had been gathered before he destroyed the dry plants. Some complaints were made by the Chinese of British subjects working fields across the border. The complaints were received late and when investigated the crops had already been destroyed by the Chinese. Fines, however, were inflicted and strict orders issued prohibiting the working of opium over the border. It was found that in a large number of cases British subjects had let their fields for opium cultivation to Chinese subjects. In all cases brought to light, heavy fines were inflicted.

FRONTIER MEETING. The usual frontier meeting for the joint settlement of cases was held at Nawnghun in January. Relations with the Chinese officials, though not marked with the extreme cordiality of the year before, were at any rate friendly. Mr. Gaudoin, though this was his first experience of a frontier meeting, established a record by settling thirty-seven cases without reference to the appellate court, and much credit is due to him for his tact and industry. As a result of the settlement Rs. 2,554 was declared payable by China and Rs. 448 by the Northern Shan States. Owing to the disturbances in Kengtung last year, the cold weather temporary post usually maintained at Hsawngsheng was kept at Tawm with instructions to disarm all caravans from China. The post was effective in maintaining order, though the bag of guns seized was not large owing to the fact that previous warning had been sent to the Chinese officials that caravans entering Kengtung from China with guns would be disarmed. Several disputes with regard to the actual boundary of Kengtung have come to light owing to the destruction of opium crops by the Chinese. In one case the officer commanding the post actually went over the disputed ground with two Chinese deputies. A few days later a marker was placed in the official descriptions of the boundary was settled. A vigorous complaint has been made as to this outrage.

the idea of his being associated with any movement to set up a Parliament at Nanking. It is quite possible that all these reports about the President's Peace Delegate are pure fabrications intended to discredit him in the eyes of the Peking authorities, for it seems to be a common practice among politicians in China to publish the most unblushing lies about their adversaries if they imagine it will serve their purpose. A noteworthy instance was the proclamation of CHANG HWEI in which he said he had the support of the President of the Republic in his movement for the restoration of the Monarchy. Whether this attempt to establish a Parliament at Nanking instead of Canton is a sign of growing strength or of disruption in the Cantonese party there is little in the published information at present to show. What the facts of the situation seem to prove is that a basis of agreement has not been discovered in the protracted discussions, and that there is every prospect of the warfare developing. That seems to be indicated too by the stagnation in trade in the North.

DEATH.

LAYTON.—In London, on the 17th inst. BENDYSHE LAYTON.

The China Mail.

HONGKONG, SATURDAY, JAN. 19, 1918.

CHINA'S PARLIAMENTS.

It would appear from reports in the Chinese Press of the North that "nearly all the members of the Extraordinary Parliament" have shifted their activities from Canton to Nanking. That explains, no doubt, the recent report of a movement to set up a National Parliament in the ancient capital of China—it is just the Canton "Parliament" on tour. A manifesto, signed by over eighty members of the "Extraordinary Parliament" has been circulated in the region of Nanking, in which it is declared to be "the sacred duty of the members of the parliament to elect a new President, to form a Cabinet, to make a permanent Constitution, to impose penalties upon those rebellious Tushuns and Generals of the North who demonstrated against the Parliament in May last, and to arrange various other important affairs of State." The manifesto goes on to say: "Now we members have selected Nanking, the ancient Capital of China, as the seat of the Parliament of the Republic, because we find in the person of Li Shun a righteous and lawful man who is trying his best to protect the laws of the Minkow, so that all those who have not arrived at Nanking should come without the slightest delay, so as to enable us to resume our legislative duties." We have seen nothing in the communiqué issued by the Intelligence Bureau of Canton to indicate a transference of their "seat of government" from Canton to Nanking, or any confession that the members of the "Extraordinary Parliament" have not been able to execute their "sacred duties on behalf of the people" at Canton, though they "revived" the Parliament there last August. If, as the reports claim, there are "110 members" now assembled at Nanking, there can be very few left at Canton, for, according to the information published in the local Chinese Press there has never been more than 130 or 140 members at Canton. When it is mentioned that the Parliament which the late President is said to have "illegally dissolved" consisted of over 600 members, we do not see how the handful of persons who gravitated to Canton some six months ago and have now shifted to Nanking can expect to be taken seriously when they claim to be "The Parliament of China." They would appear, however, from the published statements to have made some impression on the one man on whom the President has been confidently relying to bridge the gulf which divides South from North; but when the President telegraphed an inquiry on the subject to Li Shun this week, he is reported to have replied declaring his loyalty to the President and saying that he would follow no instructions but those of the President. He has also repudiated

THE BLACK PLAGUE IN THE NORTH. ATTACK ON THE DOCTORS.

A mob attack supported by the magistrato on the four doctors despatched by the Government is reported in a telegram sent by the doctors and published by the "North China Daily News." The appeal of the doctors, which is a serious accusation against the Peking Government, is as follows:—

Fengchen, January 11.
After investigating a case of plague yesterday, a mob of eighty persons led by the father, who was exposed to infection, assisted by the police, invaded our living quarters, the magistrato morally supporting the mob. A missionary friend in visiting us was assaulted.
The doctors were threatened by the military last night. Our stay is in the hospital, and soldiers are making our presence useless and dangerous. After having done all we could for the situation, we are mobbed here and refused transportation back by the Ministry of Communications.

DEATH OF MR BENDYSHE LAYTON.

We regret to learn of the death of Mr. Bendyshe Layton, which occurred at home on the 17th inst. Mr. Layton was a very old resident of the Colony. He was formerly with the firm of Gibb, Livingston & Co., and later started in business on his own account as a bill and bullion broker, under the style of Layton & Co., a business now carried on by Mr. J. Paterson and Mr. G. B. Layton, the deceased gentleman's son. The late Mr. Layton during his long residence in the Colony was held in the highest respect and esteem.

In 1888, while head of the firm of Gibb, Livingston & Co., he was chosen to fill a temporary vacancy on the Legislative Council as the representative of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Layton left the Colony in an enfeebled state of health, some four or five years ago, and had since resided at home.

(a) what is the estimated cost of laying out the area of Crown Land lying between Des Vaux and Connaught Roads opposite the Sailors' Home as a depot for the storage and sorting of poultry; and CORONER'S INQUEST. VERDICT OF MANSLAUGHTER—AGAINST A CHAUFFEUR.

The inquiry into the death of a Chinese boy, aged 5, was resumed in the Coroner's court this morning.

The Coroner (Mr. J. R. Wood) reviewing the evidence taken at the last hearing said that the only important evidence was that supplied by Inspector Sim in his report, and, according to it, it appeared that the child was struck on the right side; this statement being also confirmed by the medical evidence.

The chauffeur of the car causing the accident gave evidence. He stated that he was a licensed driver. On the day of the fatal accident his car was engaged to take Capt. Douglas to Taiipo Sugar Refinery and back. He originally intended to drive to town by Caroline Road, but owing to the congestion of traffic, he decided to continue his way along Yee Wo Road which was clear at the time. The car was moving at the rate of 8 to 7 miles an hour. A small boy crossed the track from behind a tramcar. He stopped the car at once, but the momentum sent the car forward, the right wheel of the car striking the child and knocking him down. After the accident he backed the car and took it to the left side of the road—he was driving along the right hand side of the road to avoid the crowd on the left hand side.

Capt. J. T. Douglas, Marine Surveyor, who was the only passenger of the car at the time, gave evidence. He stated that he held a driver's license. The speed of the car from Quarry Bay to Causeway Bay averaged 25 to 31 miles an hour. The car was following a tramcar from Shaikwan and came up abreast of it on reaching the terminus. Another car was coming along Yee Wo Street to turn the bend at the terminus, thus preventing the motor car from taking the Caroline road to town. There was also a third tramcar standing just opposite the tramway shelter, and thus there was no room for the motor car to pass on the right of the tramcars on the left side of the road. Witness believed that the car was moving at a speed of 8 to 7 miles per hour. Just as the motor car came abreast of the last tramcar witness saw an object crossing the street in front of the motor car from behind a tramcar. After that he felt an impact and immediately told the chauffeur to stop the car, and getting out, saw a child lying on the roadway.

Questioned by the Coroner, witness said he did not think the chauffeur noticed the accident. It was his opinion that the accident was unavoidable, and the whole thing occurred so quickly that it gave no chance to the chauffeur. He added that he considered the chauffeur a careful driver.

The Coroner, addressing the jury, said that the point they had to consider was not whether the chauffeur had been guilty of negligence. What they must consider was whether in consequence of the deviation from the regulations of the Colony—the regulation being that every vehicle must keep to the left side of the road—it was the cause for the accident.

The jury found that the chauffeur was guilty of manslaughter.

THE ZALSMAN CONCERT.

The old Chamber of Commerce Room at the City Hall was well filled last night, on the occasion of the Concert given by Mr. Gerard Zalsman, H.E. the Governor and Sir J. Stewart, Lookhart being present.

Mr. Zalsman's programme consisted of well known compositions, which suited his fine baritone voice to perfection and excerpts from Debussy, Chaminade, Massenet, Cesar Franck and Martini were excellently rendered. Miss Ester Xavier and Professor Gonzales assisted with pianoforte and violin solos respectively and Mr. Grimbly played accompaniments in his usual finished style.

The concert was a great success and Mr. Zalsman fully justified his reputation as a singer of the first rank.

It has been announced in Manila that the Nippon Yusen Kaisha Lines S.S. Maru, Fushimi Maru, Kashima Maru and Katori Maru, now on the run to Seattle, are to call at Manila. The S.S. The other two boats, after leaving Hongkong, will call at Manila and then proceed to Shanghai en route to Seattle.

THE MAGISTRACY.

MORE SHOP-LIFTING.

A young Chinese tailor was charged before Mr. Dyer Ball this morning with the theft of a quantity of needles valued at $11.50 from a shop in Queen's Road Central yesterday.

Inspector Macdonald stated that the defendant and two others went into the shop and asked the shop keeper to show them some needles. A quantity was laid on the glass counter for defendants to choose from. In the meantime whilst the other men were diverting the shopkeeper's attention from the pile by continually asking for new samples, the defendant was seen to abstract a number of the packets of needles and put them in his pockets. An alarm being given, the defendant threw down the articles and bolted. Chase was given and he was eventually arrested by a lukong. When searched two packets of needles were found on defendant's person.

Defendant, who pleaded not guilty said he brought some needles previous to visiting this shop. He claimed that he was wrongfully accused.

Inspector Macdonald said that shoplifting became prevalent during the Chinese New Year.

His Worship sentenced the defendant to two months' hard labour, and four hours' stocks in front of the shop.

PLUCKY INTERVENTION BY A POLICE RESERVIST.

Three Chinese were charged before Mr. Dyer Ball this morning with assaulting another Chinese at Tung On Lane yesterday.

Inspector Macdonald said that the three men went to complainant's house armed with an axe, an iron bar and a file respectively. According to complainant's statement, the men went to demand money; and on his refusal they attacked him. He ran out of the house followed by these men. P. C. (R) Aquino saw the chase and, with the help of a lukong, arrested the defendants.

Inspector Macdonald added that it was his opinion that the defendants who had been assaulted previously for having given information to the police with regard to opium smuggling, went to complainant's house to take revenge. But for timely intervention, the result might have been very serious.

Mr. Dyer Ball remanded the case until next Monday afternoon, fixing bail at $200 each.

A HOSPITAL FOR JERUSALEM.

A GIFT OF £10,000 BY MR. E. S. KADOORIE.

A meeting of Jewish residents of Shanghai was held at the Palace Hotel, Shanghai, last week following upon the receipt of telegrams from leading Zionists in London asking aid towards the development and assistance of Jewish institutions and organizations in Palestine, now freed from Mohammedan rule. At this meeting it was mentioned that Mr. E. S. Kadoorie had offered £10,000 to build a hospital in Jerusalem.

In the absence of Mr. D. M. David, president of the Shanghai Jewish Communal Association, Mr. T. Tolocano occupied the chair and outlined the purpose of the meeting.

Mr. N. E. B. Ezra in an eloquent appeal spoke of the obligation of the Jewish people to spring to the aid of the Zionist movement. "There is no gain saying the fact," he said, "that the offer of Great Britain for a Jewish Palestine has imposed an obligation and a duty upon Jews all over the world which they dare not shrink. What Jew can be so estranged from historic associations, or unmoved by the appeal of his faith, as not to rejoice at seeing Palestine freely offered to those who yearn to live in that land consecrated by their patriarchs, their lawgivers and their prophets? We are now confronted with a great and serious problem, the magnitude of which even hardly be exaggerated. At the last meeting held in the hall we were able to raise over £1,500 for the Jewish sufferers in Palestine, and I fail to see why we cannot raise twice this sum when it is needed for the laying of a solid and lasting foundation of a home in Palestine."

Spending of Mr. Kadoorie's generous gift, Mr. Ezra said:—

"I have pleasure in announcing the fact that on December 21, I wrote Dr. Ch. Weitzmann submitting him an offer made by a local co-religionist to build a hospital in Jerusalem at a cost of £10,000. It may be possible that this amount will not be sufficient to cover all the cost of building, etc., in which case it would be increased with a view to meeting the expenditure. It was left for Dr. Weitzmann to procure a suitable site in the best and healthiest quarter in Jerusalem and to communicate with the donors who are now universally known as one of the great benefactors of his own nation. I refer to Mr. E. S. Kadoorie."

A subscription list on which some £1,500 had already been subscribed was opened for sending funds to the leaders in London for the purpose of sending a commission to Palestine to form a link with the British authorities, coordinate relief and reconstruction work, and assist in the restoration of colonies and to other ways.

CORRESPONDENCE.

PARCELS FOR PRISONERS-OF-WAR. [To the Editor of the "China Mail"]

Secretariat for Chinese Affairs, Hongkong, 19th January, 1918.
DEAR SIR,—The doubts that have been expressed concerning the ultimate disposal of parcels for prisoners-of-war call for the publication of such information on the subject as can be gathered by the War Charities Committee.

It should be stated at once that there is no reason to think that prisoners-of-war do not receive their parcels; and that there is reason to think that they do receive them regularly.

A telegram in the Press not long ago quoted returned prisoners to the effect that but for their parcels life would have been almost unendurable. Every parcel sent is accompanied by a post card with a number of printed questions (in addition to some information) which the receiver answers, signs and returns and signed post cards of this nature are received by every mail (through London and the Central Prisoners-of-War Committee) from the prisoners-of-war who are being supported by the Hongkong Funds. Parcels to each prisoner-of-war are numbered serially every fortnight, and of this each one is carefully informed. The first printed question on the post card is "Do you receive your parcels regularly?" and the answer, in a very great majority of cases is simply "Yes." There are a few other replies: "No," "Not regularly," "Fairly," "The tinners' goods not yet issued, rest correct," and so on; sufficient to give a strong impression that the answers "Yes" are genuine and written under no sort of compulsion; for the complaints of irregularity are of a number and nature only to be expected in a difficult undertaking of this kind. It would appear to be a fair conclusion that parcels despatched duly arrive in good condition; and that the prisoners-of-war get the benefit of them.

In reply to another of the questions: "Would you like any alteration made in the parcels?" there are various answers. "More soap" is perhaps the most common. "Cigarettes and tobacco" very frequent; though one card says "Do not send cigarettes; we never get them; send tobacco"—and another "I don't like the brand of cigarettes you send"—and "tea" quite common. One man says the bread arrives bad; others that the biscuits get broken; but in almost every case the general condition of the parcels is at least "good."

There is enough originality in all these various answers with just a sufficient number of complaints of irregularity to strengthen still further the impression that the scheme as a whole is working exceedingly well; and it appears therefore that there is sufficient justification for the belief that subscriptions to the Prisoners-of-War Funds are well used, and (as a point of by no means small importance) used at once in a cause which ranks very high among those which can rightly claim voluntary support.

Yours faithfully,
E. R. HALLIFAX,
Hon. Secretary,
War Charities Committee.

Nearly 2,000 tractors have been placed at the disposal of the farmers of England and Wales by the Food Production Department.

Clyde shipbuilders, says a London paper, have patriotically refused to tender for the building of Norwegian cargo vessels, to be delivered as soon as possible after the war, though a minimum of £30 a ton deadweight was offered.

"We read in a Manila paper that all women who are in sympathy with the cause of the United States and the Allies in the fight against German autocracy are invited to attend the gigantic mass meeting which is to be held on the Manila Hotel roof garden at 4.30, January 16, under the auspices of the Philippine Chapter of the American Red Cross Society for the purpose of arousing interest in the Chapter's plan for participation in the 1918 Carnival."

A STORM OF PROTEST.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.
The fuel order issued by Mr. Garfield, the Fuel Administrator, has been signed by President Wilson.

The temporary closing down of industries has evoked a storm of protest.

Mr. Garfield explains that the necessity of moving ships has compelled drastic action, and says a national calamity can only be averted by concentrating coal in the great centres of industry and population for clearing off the immense accumulations of freight which is choking the railways. He says there will be no interruption of exports of food, etc., to the Allies.

The newspapers express amazement at the order and four of the leading New York daily papers have telegraphed to President Wilson describing the order as calamitous, as dislocating industry and putting millions out of employment.

The Daily Express Correspondent at Geneva states that a naval mutiny was begun at Kiel on January 7th by the submarine crews and subsequently spread to a portion of the crews of the cruisers.

It is reported that the mutineers, several of whom participated in the first mutiny, killed 38 officers. Though the mutiny was local it shows that the German naval men are dissatisfied, especially the submarine crews, as the number of submarines returning to their bases is decreasing monthly.

GERMAN PROPAGANDISTS IN SWITZERLAND.

"TINO" BUSY.

LONDON, Jan. 17.

In the House of Commons, Mr. Lynch Nationalist member for Clon, affirmed that ex-King Constantine was the centre of a group of pro-German propagandists in Switzerland which included noted enemies of the Allies, for example the ex-Khedive, M. Teotokis who, while representing Greece in Berlin, plotted to bring Greece under German domination, and also Dr. Streit. This group was constantly communicating with ex-Chancellor Count von Buelow and Prince von Hohenlohe, chief German propagandist in Switzerland.

Mr. Lynch asked whether steps had been taken to counteract the activities of this group, to whom the reverses in Italy and the defection of Russia were partly due.

Mr. Balfour replied: My information generally agrees with the honorable member's statement. All steps are being taken to counteract the propaganda mentioned.

THE MOSLEM LEAGUE.

A SPLIT.

LONDON, Jan. 18.

Commenting on the establishment of the Moslem Association, the Times says that it is not surprising that the more moderate Moslems all over India are following the example of the Punjab and making a stand against the faction which has seized the organization of the Moslem League. The Times emphasises the Hindu domination of the League, the conservatism of the bulk of Mahomedans in India and the antagonism of the masses evidenced by the riots of Bihar.

The paper says the influential character of the new movement is indicated by the leadership of Prince Aror of the Wah-Brahmin movement in Madras which is, perhaps, something more than a coincidence.

The Times regards a situation which has produced a split among Mahomedans, but says it is well that the British public should be reminded that the more moderate elements of the Indian community, both Moslem and Hindu, view with distrust and some alarm the excessive demands of the two most prominent political organisations.

MILLIONS.

LONDON, Jan. 17.

Poland is no longer a country fertile and cheerful; it is a country barren, laid waste, devoid of food, with its people hungry and lacking shelter, and its population has decreased by millions.

According to a statement made by V.O. Gorsk, executive secretary of the Polish Victims' Relief Fund, Mr. Gorsk not only tells of what he knows personally, but also details how others who have recently been in Poland.

An idea of the total number of people affected by starvation in Poland can be obtained, says Mr. Gorsk, from a statement of Frederick Walcott of the Rockefeller Foundation, who, upon his return from Poland, said: "Having had occasion to travel on the main road from Warsaw to Pinsk, about 160 miles, I noticed that the ground was simply littered with human skeletons and corpses. The remaining army had buried the bones of about 400,000 inhabitants, and compelled them to vacate the land."

Stefan Gacki, the well-known Polish writer, says that conditions in Poland were daily growing worse, that the appalling winter was killing the Poles with horror, especially in view of the fact which is awaiting the children.

Mr. Gacki goes on to say: "We have tried to get some kind of clothing—woolen shoes for men, but in vain. We have no money to buy these articles, and they are not to be obtained free of charge. With my own eyes I have seen many people drop on the street from hunger."

THE FAMINE IN WARSAW.
In Warsaw the famine is indescribable. We are doing our best, but it is only a drop in the sea. I am the president of the Society of the Good Samaritan, which distributes a little food among the population.

Antoni Osuchowski, chairman of the executive committee of the General Polish Relief Committee in Switzerland, is a cablegram to Robert Lansing, American Secretary of State, said: "Only America can save these people."

Mr. Lempieli of Warsaw, head of the Department of Foreign Affairs, states to survive the next winter.

The Central Polish Agency of Langsane gives an account of the materials used in the manufacture of bread in Poland: "For every 100 pounds of bread the following ingredients are used: four 24 pounds; wheat, 17 pounds; scoria, 14 pounds; lucerne, 21 pounds; sawdust, 6 pounds; bark of trees, 12 pounds; bran, 21 pounds, and dried potatoes, 4 pounds."

Rabbi J. Polak, who had seen people drop from hunger. He also reported, there is a people, tens and hundreds of thousands, standing in line asking for bread, asking for the necessities of life. It is a people that is gradually getting weaker. In Vilna the people get soup once a day, and what does that soup consist of? It consists of barley and no trace of other vegetables, and this situation prevails in Poland, Lithuania and Latvia.

The total amount of money collected in the whole world for relief work in Poland is so far, $4,000,000. How little that is can only be realized when you consider that the total population of Poland was 35,000,000 before the war, and if you add to this, the Ukraine, Lithuania and the Jewish population you will have a total of 35,000,000. To relieve all these people, the General Polish Relief Committee of Vevey, Switzerland, founded by L. F. Fiedorowski and Henry Simkiewicz, had only $400,000. Of this $400,000, America has contributed $1,150,000. Up to date the Polish Victims' Relief Fund has collected $887,000, of which Mr. Fiedorowski, through lectures and speeches, contributed personally $147,000.

Recently four colonies of Polish children have been formed; two in Switzerland, one in England and one in Poland. These colonies take care of these Polish orphans whom the German Government allowed to be exported abroad, and also of orphans of Polish refugees in Russia, France, Switzerland and England. In Siberia there are, at present, still managing to subsist, about 1,000,000 Poles.

This figure represents half the number of refugees who were driven from their homes by the retreating Russian Army, and sent into Siberia by the autocratic Imperial Government of Russia. When the monarchy fell, those unfortunate who had just reached their destinations, started on their homeward journey. The Siberian Polish societies, also subsidized by the Polish Victims' Relief Fund, have taken care of these."

TENNIS.

BRADLEY CUP COMPETITION.

There was quite a large gathering at the Naval Dockyard Recreation Club yesterday to witness the final match between Sapper Major Jewsbury and Sapper Townsend to decide the winner of the Garrison Lawn Tennis Championship. The game was snappy and fast, this being due to the hard ground. Both men showed great keenness throughout the game and some excellent tennis was played.

The first set was won by Sapper Townsend by 6 games to 2. The second set was taken by Jewsbury who equalised after an exciting rally, the games being 6-3, 4-3, 4-3, 6-3 and 6-4. The third set, however, was a productive of more excitement. Townsend began by taking the first two games and after a ding-dong struggle in which 18 games were played, the set was won by Townsend, by 10 to 8. In the last set Townsend improved 8 to 6. The match was a very close and accurate placing. He secured the set and the championship by taking six games in succession.

Scores:—6-2, 3-6, 10-8 and 6-0.

At the conclusion of the game the Rev. Cooper Hunt, addressing the spectators, said the competition was started last year through the kindness of Messrs. Bradley & Co., who offered a Cup. The competition created a good deal of interest and at that time as many as 51 entries were sent in; this year, however, the entries have risen to 84. He thanked Commodore Sandeman for the kind use of the ground and Messrs. Anderson, Hennessy and Jewsbury for their efforts in making the competition a success, and also the subscribers of the Service Entertainment Fund for generously contributing their prize.

First prize was awarded to Sapper Townsend & E. who becomes the holder of the Bradley Cup.

A beautiful bouquet was then presented to Mrs. Sandeman by Miss Irene Jenkins.

Commodore Sandeman returned thanks, and the gathering dispersed after giving the customary cheers.

To commemorate the sinking of the mailer Emden by H.M.A.S. Sydney a fund was raised by the people of Western Australia. Every member of the crew has received a silver medal, and a handsome piece of plate has been presented to the officers' mess.
